

We are a dynamic, fast-growing team that's excited about e-commerce and logistics and the opportunity to transform these industries with data and technology. Join us and our journey to drive the growth in the e-commerce market. We are looking for you as:

FRONT-END DEVELOPERS

- Based in Ho Chi Minh -

What we are looking for:

As a frontend developer, you will be building the interfaces to interact with Parcel Perform system. Our goal has always been to create a seamless experience between human and computer. And because of that, we continuously incorporate latest advancement in web technologies and expand the scope of user interface. Some of the latest additions are conversational UI, Progressive Web App, and Accelerated Mobile Page.

Such complexity can be hard, especially with a focus on good engineering practices. But that is ok. We aren't here for ease anyway. We are here for people who want to operate at the next level in their career.

What you should bring along:

We at Parcel Perform believe in innovation, energy and resourcefulness for everything we do. We will not stop to deliver an outstanding product that we can be proud of and need you to help us to inform the world. You need to feel the same way about our offering and bring along the following things:

The mindset

- Be responsible with task and be open to discuss, give questions to build up products with high quality and rich front-end experiences for our users.
- Understand clearly about object-oriented programming and design pattern.
- Willing to learn and research new technology or jump out of your comfortable zone.
- Passionate about quality and the design of the code, productivity of the work and maintainability of the end result.

The skills

- Front-end software development experience in Reactjs, or similar platforms.
- Have strong knowledge in ES6 (javascript 6).
- Experience at one or more CSS compiler (LESS/SASS/PostCSS)
- Proficient in code review, code refactoring, Unit Testing
- Prefer for additional skills
 - Bundle code with Webpack/Browserify
 - AMP-HTML
 - Progressive web app (PWA)
 - Implementing a ChatBot
 - RxJS/Reactive programming

In return, you will receive:

We are on a mission together to change the e-commerce logistics world and are in it for the journey and the opportunities it offers to all of us. Become part of the team and experience the excitement of contributing to this incredible team effort.

- The opportunity to work in a fast growing, super exciting and innovative business that will revolutionize the e-commerce logistics industry. You will be the needle of success on the growth of a global product that will become a key platform behind successful e-commerce logistics worldwide.
- The ability to continuously learn and develop in an international setting with you being a critical driver behind the success of us achieving our mission.
- An environment where everybody never stops growing, and focuses on succeeding - we continuously work with you on your strengths and weaknesses across many important dimensions, and look at ways for you to address them and further your development
- Your entry ticket into being part of the Parcel Perform startup Universe, where you will work with and alongside people from around the world that share the same passion and dedication.
- All the usual perks you'd expect from a fast growing company like free lunch, annual wage supplement, various training programs, free fruit, amazing oces including sleeping rooms, and more
